

Doers of the Word

People do not have to work to make God love us. All we have to do to have life forever with God is trust that He sent Jesus to rescue us from sin.

James, Jesus' brother, who was also a leader in the early church wrote a letter to explain something important. Because we love Jesus, we should want to do what His Word says. If we hear what the Bible says but do not obey God's words, we forget who God has made us to be.

James said that people who really love God will love people too.

If we know someone is hungry or cold, and we do not give him what he needs, have we done what is right? When we obey what God says, we show the world that Jesus has changed us and made us alive in Him.

When we trust in Jesus, the Holy Spirit will help us love God, obey God and show God's love to people!
